

April 10, 2017 | Firm News

Rich May Attorney James Heffernan Named to Adjunct Faculty at Boston University Questrom School of Business

By: Rich May

James Heffernan, a counsel at Rich May, P.C., and a member of Rich May P.C.'s Real Estate Group, has been added to the Adjunct Faculty at Boston University Questrom School of Business.

Related Attorneys

James B. Heffernan

Mr. Heffernan regularly represents local, national and international clients in all facets of real estate. He has also been a frequent guest lecturer at Questrom School of Business and a co-chair to multiple Technical Assistant Panels with the Urban Land Institute.

Mr. Heffernan will be teaching business law to both undergraduate and MBA students. His first course will be the Introduction to Business Law in the MBA Summer 1 Session at Questrom School of Business starting this May. This particular course introduces graduate MBA students to all aspects of law including constitutional, business, real estate, torts, contracts, and agency law.

About Boston University Questrom School of Business

Boston University Questrom School of Business is part of one of the world's leading research universities, in an international city known for innovation. At Questrom School of Business, the focus is on delivering exceptional outcomes for the students, inside and outside the classroom with:

- Practitioners from the world of business.
- A rigorous and demanding curricula.
- Students from all over the world, bringing diverse educational and cultural backgrounds and work experiences.
- The city of Boston provides an outstanding backdrop as a leading center for high technology, healthcare, and entrepreneurship.

Questrom School of Business takes very seriously its obligation to provide students with

Attorneys at Law

RichMay

www.richmaylaw.com

an educational experience that yields a responsible and responsive global leader who positively impacts employees, customers, owners, and the communities where they operate.

Follow the link for more information on Questrom School of Business.