

September 2017 – Rich May, P.C. congratulates Frank Torbey, Dave Clark and Steve Wyman, the founders and principals of TandemSeven, on the sale of TandemSeven to Genpact, a global professional services firm focused on delivering digital transformation for clients.

Since its founding in 2001, TandemSeven has been a leader in customer experience innovation by bringing together the disciplines of research, design thinking, journey mapping, and user experience engineering.

Genpact's announcement of the transaction can be found here.

Rich May attorneys Stephen M. Kane, Arvid von Taube and Frank N. Gaeta assisted TandemSeven in all aspects of the sale, including negotiation of the terms of the transaction and the preparation of the stock purchase agreement and all ancillary documents.

ABOUT GENPACT

Genpact (NYSE: G) is a global professional services firm focused on delivering digital transformation for its clients, putting digital and data to work to create competitive advantage. Genpact does this by integrating lean principles, design thinking, analytics and digital technologies with its domain and industry expertise to deliver disruptive business outcomes – an approach Genpact calls Lean DigitalSM. Genpact's approach is continually refined in one of the world's largest digital process sandboxes, where Genpact tests and improves thousands of processes. For two decades, first as a General Electric division and since 2005 as an independent company, Genpact has been passionately serving its clients. Genpact generates impact for clients from the Fortune Global 500 and beyond, and employs over 77,000 people in more than 20 countries, with key offices in New York City, Palo Alto, London, and Delhi.
