Rich May Congratulates its friends at Proper Pipe for their win at Cleantech Open Northeast

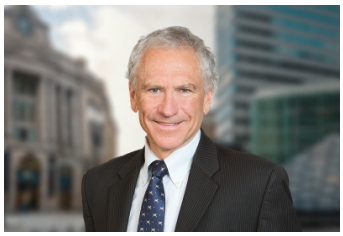

By: Rich May

Rich May congratulates its friends at Proper Pipe for their win at the national competition of the Cleantech Open, the world's largest cleantech accelerator.

Rich May attorney Eric Krathwohl mentored Proper Pipe, an innovative start-up dedicated to improving global water, oil and gas supply systems. Many emerging environmental and energy technology firms competed at the National Cleantech Open Global Forum in San Francisco, California on February 6-10, 2017. Proper Pipe won the Cleantech Open's National Energy Efficiency Award.

Proper Pipe designs and plans to market a new technology for HDPE joints for water and natural gas pipelines. More information about Proper Pipe can be found by visiting their website.
